

NTC
National Telecommunications Regulatory Commission
Regulatory Commission of the Caribbean
"Ensuring Standards through Regulation"

ABOUT US
The National Telecommunications Regulatory Commission (NTC) is the independent regulatory body for the telecommunications sector in the Caribbean. It was established under the Telecommunications Act of 2002 and is responsible for ensuring fair competition, protecting consumer interests, and promoting the development of the telecommunications sector.

